1. The new shipyard on Ciovo Island is not yet functioning, although it was supposed to have started production at the beginning of 1951. Several buildings are still under construction and the ground is being leveled to make space for new buildings. Most of the labor is provided by the military forces.
2. The main shop, which is one hundred meters long, has been completed and is being used by the old shipyard. Two additional shops, one of which will be used as an engineering shop and the other as an electro-technical shop, have also been completed.
3. The water supply system is being installed on a small hill adjacent to the new shipyard and a large underground water reservoir is under construction.
4. The old shipyard is still turning out motor transport boats of the "Koca" type and carrying out repairs on wooden craft.
